For Crying Out Loud

Lloyd Cole

I took 15 years to break your spell
I loved you then, I love you still
I wake up cold, I wake up wet
My body weak, my mind is spentI fill my days, I pay my rent
And I have no need of electric light
Because I dream the same dream every night
I call my man, I know it's late
Could you fix me something
To put me straight?'Cause I need your love
I need it now
God speed your love
For crying out loud, hey yeahYou took all I have, there is no more
Mother nature lied, there is no cure
So I take my pill, I close my eyes
And I wait for sleep, I wait all night
But I see your face, I hear your voice
I call your number, I have no choice'Cause I need your love
I need it now
God speed your love
For crying out loud, hey yeahAnd I need your love
I need it right now
God speed your love
For crying out loud, hey yeah
Hey yeahI took 15 years to break your spell
I loved you then, I guess I failed
I wake up cold, I wake up wet
My body weak, my mind is spent
I fill my days, I pay my rent
I have no need and I have no-one'Cause I need your love
I need it now
God speed your love
For crying out loud, hey yeahAnd I need your love
I need it right now
God speed your love
God speed your love to me
For crying out loud

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/