Winner at War

Die Happy

Mark my words in the battlefield
Don't move too fast cause they might wanna kill you
Our last piece of hope
They know better better
When they scream and shout they're ready to win
Your last piece of chance
Cause they fight longer, stronger
When they scream and shoutAnd you came up with something so clever
You wom my trust
You won my heart
You hold my heart
Till you smashed it to bits
And you came up with something so clever
You won my trust
You won my heart
You won it all
You're the winner at warSeems I escaped a war still Keep my fences shut and the bad people out
Somehow I set
A fire back then
Now I'm waiting for the next one to being
I never meant to hurt
Not even myself
I just couldn't figure out whose enemy or friendAnd you came up with something so clever
You wom my trust
You won my heart
You hold my heart
Till you smashed it to bits
And you came up with something so clever
You won my trust
You won my heart
You won it all
You're the winner at warWhom am I fighting against?
Can't decide who is enemy or friend
Keep the light out and stay in the dark
Who am I fighting against?
Can't decide who is enemy or friend
Keep the light out and stay in the darkAnd you came up with something so clever
You wom my trust

You won my heart
You hold my heart
Till you smashed it to bits
And you came up with something so clever
You won my trust
You won my heart
You won it all
You're the winner at warWait till I fight back again!
