

Life Is Life

Noah & The Whale

Well, he used to be somebody and now he's someone else
Took apart his old life, left it on the shelf
Sick of being someone he did not admire
Took up all his old things, set them all on fireHe's gonna change, gonna change his ways
Gonna change, gonna change his ways
And it feels like his new life can start
And it feels like heavenLeft his house at midnight, resolute and young
In search of something greater than the person he'd become
He threw his bags into the back of his run-down '80s car
Headed out to god-knows-where, no distance is too farHe's gonna change, gonna change his ways
Gonna change, gonna change his ways
And it feels like his new life can start
And it feels like heaven
And it feels like his new life can start
And it feels like heavenYour life is your life, gotta live like it's your life
Your life is your life, gotta live like it's your life
Your life is your life, gotta live like it's your life
Your life is your life, gotta live like it's your lifeAnd it feels like his new life can start
(Your life is your life, gotta live like it's your life)
And it feels like heaven
(Your life is your life, gotta live like it's your life)And it feels like his new life can start
(Your life is your life, gotta live like it's your life)
And it feels like heaven
(Your life is your life, gotta live like it's your life)And it feels like his new life can start
(Your life is your life, gotta live like it's your life)
And it feels like heaven
(Your life is your life, gotta live like it's your life)And it feels like his new life can start
(Your life is your life, gotta live like it's your life)
And it feels like heaven
(Your life is your life, gotta live like it's your life)

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>