

A Few Words Too Many

Billie Myers

Wait a minute, what did you say?
Did I hear you say
There's no real reason left for you to stay
Under your breath I hear your soft voice pray
Can we still be friends?
I hear you talking but you're just not makin' sense I've been hopin' for a happy endin'
Now I know that there won't be any Just a few words too many, in my head
A few words too many, in this bed
A few words too many, left unsaid
I wish that we were strangers
We could start again, start again, all over A broken shadow falls across your face
As you hesitate
Tryin' to think of all the things you need to say
Better face the truth, it lies at my feet
As you turn away
Sometimes silence has a way of makin' peace
Now I know that there won't be any Just a few words too many, in my head
A few words too many, in this bed
A few words too many, left unsaid
I wish that we were strangers
We could start again, start again, all over again Starin' at the ceiling, wonderin' just what you're feeling
Was it me? Or was it you?
What's the difference if I knew?
Maybe I wouldn't feel so empty if I hadn't heard A few words too many, in my head
A few words too many, in this bed
A few words too many, left unsaid
I wish that we were strangers
We could start again, start again
Start all over again
We could start again
We could start again Round and round and round and round in my head, yeah
Wait a minute
What did you say?
Did I hear you say?
