

Tickets

Maroon 5

She's got tickets to her own show
But nobody wants go
And I'm stuck sitting in the front row
I'm singing along like there's no tomorrow It's funny how you say that you made it on your own
When you haven't worked for anyone your daddy didn't know
You say you got a job, but I don't know what you do
Such a fing snob that you'll never know the truth You're perfect on the outside, but nothing at the core
It's easy to forget when you show up at my door
Stop messing with my mind, 'cause you'll never have my heart
But your perfect little body makes me fall apart
Your perfect little body makes me fall apart She's got tickets to her own show
But nobody wants go
And I'm stuck sitting in the front row
I'm singing along like there's no tomorrow La la la la la la la la la la I know you wanna stay, but I think that you should go
'Cause you've got nothing to say, you just sit there on your phone
I try not to give in, but temptation has me lost
So I will do my best to get you off You're perfect on the outside, but nothing at the core
It's easy to forget when you show up at my door
Stop messing with my mind 'cause you'll never have my heart
But your perfect little body makes me fall apart
Your perfect little body makes me fall apart She's got tickets to her own show
But nobody wants go
And I'm stuck sitting in the front row
I'm singing along like there's no tomorrow La la la la la la la la la la La la la la la la la la la la la la la
La la la la la la la la la la la la la la Yeah, she's got tickets to her own show
But nobody wants go
And I'm stuck sitting in the front row
I'm singing along like there's no tomorrow She's got tickets to her own show
But nobody wants go
And I'm stuck sitting in the front row
I'm singing along like there's no tomorrow La la la la la la la la la la la la la la
La la la la la la la la la la la la la la

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>