Watching The World Go By

Maxi Priest

There's so much injustice here
I see it every day
Time and time we'll try to change
And never find a wayWe'll climb the mountains far and wide
To find the truth behind the lies
Here I am just searching for some peaceJust watching the world go by Counting the clouds up in the sky
I'm hoping for a new tomorrow
Without sadness and sorrows in my lifeThere is so much hate around
We need to find some love
So much disillusion
I just got to rise aboveThere is so much going down
To keep my feet on solid ground
Got to find an answer to my prayersJust watching the world go by
Counting the clouds up in the sky
Getting all those complications
And those mad situations out of my lifeJust watching the world go by Seeing all the lonely people pass me by
I'm hoping for a new tomorrow
Without sadness and sorrows in my lifeMy life, in my life, in my life, ooh yeah
In my life, oh yeah
Come along now, now, now, now
Come along now, now, now, nowYou need to spend some time to look into yourself
And watch the river flow into the sea
You travel down a highway, not knowing where it goes
And listening to the music as it flowsJust watching the world go by
Counting the clouds up in the sky
Getting all those complications
And those mad situations out of my lifeJust watching the world go by Seeing all the lonely people pass me by
I'm hoping for a new tomorrow
Without sadness and sorrows in my lifeJust watching the world go by Counting the clouds up in the sky
Getting all those complications
And those mad situations out of my lifeWatching the world go by
Seeing all the lonely people pass me by
I'm hoping for a new tomorrow
Without sadness and sorrows in my lifeWatching the world go by
