

Futile Future

Misanthrope

How our life is so futile
What a fool to think about a tomorrow
Joy is so furtive
When your pulpy kiss meets my lips I do not believe in tenderness anymore
Henceforth more than simple promises
Go behind our distress in our self-cloak
We are just livid embers of futility Futile future
Futile future
Futile future
Futile future How our life is so futile
What a fool to think about a tomorrow
Joy is so furtive
When your pulpy kiss meets my lips Futile future
Futile future
Futile future
Futile future We are everything except extraordinary
I let my lots to the human sorrow
So where, who will I conjure my demons
Simplicity is the power of a being, so be II do not believe in tenderness anymore
Henceforth more than simple promises
Go behind our distress in our self-cloak
We are just livid embers of futility Futile future
Futile future
So be I
