

Cops and Drugs

Smoke or Fire

They're looking for a cure for your problem,
but the money isn't the solution.
The money is in the medicine sold.
While they're working for a drug free world
they're taking all the money from the working man.
So the working man turns to drugs. Forget everything they said. Don't let them into your head.
Can't you see that's what they want from you?
Empty bottles and promises. Don't let them into your head.
Can't you see that's what they've done? They're making new laws for the criminals cause money isn't in the solution.
The money's in the government jobs.
So the DEA works for the criminals,
and the working man works for the medicine, and the government runs to the bank. Forget everything they said. Don't let them into your head.
Can't you see that's what they want from you?
Empty bottles and promises. Don't let them into your head.
Can't you see that's what they want? Think straight. It's too late when you're headed for police state.
