

Drunk Last Night

Eli Young Band

I got a little drunk last night
There's something 'bout a midnight rain
Staring at the ceiling fan
I couldn't get you off my brain I guess I wasn't thinking straight
I couldn't tell wrong from right
I went ahead and called you up
I got a little drunk last night I brought it all up, got it all out
What is it worth, to both of us now
It's off my chest, but never off my mind
The two drinks in, hit that hurt,
You feel bad, and I feel worse
I swear it's the last time every time
Don't know why Might've been a song on the radio
Might've been nothing, baby I don't know
Might've been a little too tired to fight
Might've been I got a little drunk last night I got a little too far gone
The heart was talking way too loud
I don't remember what I said
I just remember breaking down I brought it all up, got it all out
What is it worth, to both of us now
It's off my chest, but never off my mind
The two drinks in, hit that hurt,
You feel bad, and I feel worse
I swear it's the last time every time
Don't know why Might've been a song on the radio
Might've been nothing, baby I don't know
Might've been a girl who looked like you
Might've been a fluke, might've been a full moon
Might've been a little too tired to fight
Might've been I got a little drunk last night Might've been a song on the radio
Might've been nothing, baby I don't know
Might've been a girl who looked like you
Might've been a fluke, might've been a full moon
Might've been a little too tired to fight
Might've been I got a little drunk Brought it all up, got it all out
What is it worth, to both of us now
It's off my chest, but never off my mind
The two drinks in, hit that hurt,
You feel bad, and I feel worse

I swear it's the last time every time I got a little drunk last night
I got a little drunk last night
Thought I could keep it all inside
But I got a little drunk last night
