

Keep Me Company

Feeling Left Out

it's kind of like smiling similiar to a mouthful of candy it's like 3:00 on your last day of school it's someone else's turn to play the foollet's take a walk and let our feet just talklet's reach for hands and hold hips where we standI'd like to introduce you to my eyes they've been dying to meet you now that you both have met i have something to dive intoi've let go of the past even before you asked to ensure this ship sails smoothly you can be the wind and guide this ship to a safer place than thislet's speak our words and exaggerate the absurd show me your teeth and promise to never stop smilingI'd like to introduce you to my lips they've been dying to meet you
now that you both have met
i have something to hold ontoI'd like to introduce you to my heart it's been dying to meet you
now that you both have met
i have someone to write home toit's ok if it's not a white Christmas we can sleigh ride on the sand we'll bundle up in sweatshirts and sweaters just don't you let go of my handThanks to Rick vanravenhorst (van@ripnet.com) for these lyrics

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>