

Graduation Day

Math and Physics Club

I could sing you a song about the last five seconds of love

I could sing you a song about the last five seconds of love

I'm so shy

I left the morning after a key disaster

At the evening affair

Within the first five minutes alone

At the evening affair

Within the first five minutes alone I was so tongue-tied

I gave the wrong impression of the wrong suggestion

Graduation day

Graduation day

You'd think by now I'd learn to stay away You're the friend of a friend

That's the last I ever heard Why do I try?

I stated my defenses from 1 to 99 I'd like to sing you a song about the last five seconds of love

I'd like to sing you a song about the last five seconds of love

With the sun in my eyes

I made a full confession

I learned my lesson well

Graduation day

Graduation day

Oh you'd think by now I'd learn

Don't you think by now I'd learn to stay away?

Graduation day
