Saving

Thirteen Senses

I see so little time
My eyes are crossed, my hands are tied
All I wanna do is to breathe in
I never see a passer-by
My skin is cold, it's turned to ice
And everything I do, I want leavingAnd I guess it's a might
With a light that you find
You turn a blind eye
To the world in the skyI didn't know in your lies
Above your head you hold so high
All my energy is behind it
A dream for the passersby
My eyes are wasted here tonight
I never tried to get across the feelingAnd I guess it's a might
With a light you find
You turn a blind eye
To the world in the skySaving down under the stars
Saving [Incomprehensible] the stars
Saving down under the stars
Saving

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/