

On Your Own

Billy Squier

In every heart there comes a time
You find yourself, you speak your mind
On your own No man can lead two separate lives
One castle keep, one will decide
It's not right For every heart there burns a flame
To light the soul and make you one again
Song text taken from stlyrics.com
In every heart there looms a voice
We'll have our day, oh yeah I lived a lie bound from my birth
I need to find what life is worth
It's not mine Oh secret soul that burns inside
No forced control can make you hide
Open wide A restless heart who needs a friend
To free my soul and make me one again
Within my heart I found a voice
I'll have my say For every heart there burns a flame
To light the soul and make you one again
In every heart there looms a voice
We'll have our day
In every heart there booms a voice

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>