

Where I Draw The Line

Clay Aiken

It's all as it should be
You're the best thing that ever happened to me
I melt every time we kiss, never felt anything like this
It's almost too perfect
Call it a curse or call it fate
Something beautiful brings on the pain
Looks like it's gonna be the same this time around
I wanna let you in but I don't know how
I've been here one to many times
Seems whenever I let somebody get this close
I'm right back where I got hurt the most
That's why, that's why
Around my heart is where I draw the line
Wish I could just forget
Not have one more regret behind me to remind me
Of what I've given up
Could I ever live with this
Knowing that I might have missed my last chance
For love to find me
I could stay here drowning in the rain
Unless you have the strength to save me
Nothing's going to change
And it's gonna be the same this time around
I wanna let you in but I don't know how
I've been here one to many times
Seems whenever I let somebody get this close
I'm right back where I got hurt the most
That's why, oh that's why
Around my heart is where I draw the line
Either you're gonna rescue me
Or you're gonna be the death of me
It's gonna be the same this time around
I wanna let you in but I don't know how
I've been here one to many times
Whenever I let somebody get this close
I'm right back where I got hurt the most
That's why, that's why
Around my heart is where I draw the line
Around my heart is where I draw the line
