

Hope

Five for Fighting

When life's got you down and you can't make a sound
 'Cause love has forsaken you
 When you're burning on fire but have no desire
 To put out the flames and move You gotta have hope
 You gotta have something
 There's always a reason to break
Hope 'cause nothing less will save the day When you are in pain then step off the train
 Nobody's waiting for you
 You can knock down each door of old metaphors
 Or embrace the cold hard truth But you gotta have hope
 You gotta have something
 There's always a reason to break
Hope 'cause nothing less will save the day I see that look in your eyes
 I've seen it before
 Each to our own disguise
 If you need me, babe
You're not alone, no, no When life's got you down and you can't make a sound
 'Cause despair has stolen your song
 But raise up your fist and into the abyss
 Scream, "Coward, get off my lawn" Hope
 Something
 There's always a reason to break
Hope 'cause nothing less will save the day
