

Now The One You Once Loved Is Leaving

Lydia

Tell me how I finally figured it out that now you're caught in the things you said you'd never do.
And now it's starting to show like her skin fell out of her clothes.
She's got a list of moves to make.
Stay for me because it was the first.
Yeah it was the...stay on me.
Take your time lighting the room.
When all is said and done, I bet you're covering.
Is it a wonder you're lonely?
Taking chances to feel again.
I bet you never knew.
I bet you never...
Suddenly, a cloud must've cut a hole in my head.
When I was tangled all in your words.
How quick to forget, we are, with eyes unimpressed, you're sealing the conversations.
And are you wondering how things could be?
Just staring at the surface, when all the walls have tendencies, but it's not your fault when no one taught you how.
And now the one you once loved is leaving.
You're so sure that I'd be just fine here but you were surely just taking your own time, dear.

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnyrics.com/>