Strong Strong Wind

Air Supply

We walked away before
Now after many storms
We could not get through
But I still kept loving you
Now fate brought you back to me
This time I won't let you leave
I'm holding onto you, forever
I'm never letting go
The time I spent away from you
Is time that made me see
I need to live this life with you
I need you here with me
It would take a strong, strong wind
To take me from your arms again
To take me from your side
It would take a strong, strong wind
To pull away this heart of mine
To make us break apart this time
It would take a strong, strong wind
Hearts sometimes lose their way
But they find their way back someday
To the arms they need
And I need you like the air I breathe
The time I spent away from you
Is time lost in the rain
I meant to live this life with you
That's something nothing can change
It would take a strong, strong wind
To take me from your arms again
To take me from your side
It would take a strong, strong wind
To tear away this heart of mine
To make us break apart this time
It would take a strong, strong wind
This time I'm holding on with everything
This time I won't let go for anything
It would take a strong, strong wind
To take me from your arms again
To take me from your side

It would take a strong, strong wind
To put away this heart of mine
To make us break apart this time
It would take a strong, strong wind
It would take a strong, strong wind
