

Arguments

Derik Nelson

I bought myself a ticket for a guilt trip
The same old story the shameless glory
But I'm quickly getting sick of all the bullsh*t
We argue and fight till I forget which said is right again
So we fight again and I still won't let you win
Then you turn your head and we're back in bed making love again in the end

The way you wrap your tongue around and insult
I know it's wrong but it's turning me on
And the way I like to end it with is my fault
You know it ain't right but I still want you spending the night again
So we fight again and I still won't let you win
Then you turn your head and we're back in bed making love again in the end

So here we are again this never seems to end
This cool collected ...sequence of events yeah
We move from love to hate and back the other way wouldn't the ...way
My love its you and me and I am here to stay

So lets fight again coz its right again and I still won't let you win
So you turn your head and we're back in bed make love again in the end
I think I bought myself a ticket for a guilt trip

Lyrics submitted by charotte.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>