

Lullaby

Reef

For your lady something sweet
A lullaby before she sleeps
And if your lady should awake
You'll hold her in your arms
Again, again, again
For your children, something sweet
A lullaby before they sleep
And if your children should awake
You'll hold them in your arms
Again, again, again
It soon will be morning
It soon will be morning
It soon will be morning again
For your good self, something sweet
A lullaby before you sleep
And if you still should awake
Then you will see the break of day
Again, again, again, again
