Lancelot

Willy Astor

I like to taste the wine, I swore to save the King
Two jewels I am devoted to when the darkness closes in
I kneel before you, Arthur, for you I risk my life
I am your protector and I do crave your wifeMy life for you, my heart is true
Alive I taste, forbidden fruit
My tongue speaks words of feelings deep
Another tongue than blood and steelFor the land and for the steel
For the Queen my love is real
I'd die for England's rose and pride
I'd die for you my guardian lightI would sneak in her chamber when she longs for me
And I would give her all, that man has to give
I go mad without her don't close her away from me
I free her from the tower and take her home with meMy life for you, my heart is true
Alive I taste, forbidden fruit
My tongue speaks words of feelings deep
Another tongue than blood and steelFor the land and for the steel
For the Queen my love is real
I'd die for England's rose and pride
I'd die for you my guardian lightFor the land and for the steel
For the Queen my love is real
I'd die for England's rose and pride
I'd die for you my guardian lightFor the land and for the steel
For the Queen my love is real
I'd die for England's rose and pride
I'd die for you my guardian light

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/