Sweet Song

Cecile Corbel

By the hills and lands
Where my heart has gently grown.
And where the trees are in bloom forever.
I could spend my whole life with you.
Under a shady grove just waiting for the stars.We would have a shelter at the top of the highest tree.
We would look at the sky before we sleep.Promise me, we will live underneath the stars.
The nightengale will sing, "La la la la la".
It's a sweet song.
Underneath the stars,
We would be lovers from the hill.By the hazy mountains my love's sweetly grown
And where the secrets are kept forever.
I could spend a lifetime with you under a white maple tree staring at the skies.We would have a shelter at the top of the highest tree.
We would look at the sky before we sleep.Promise me, we will live underneath the stars.
The nightengale will sing, "La la la la la".
It's a sweet song.
Underneath the stars,
We would be lovers from the hill.Promise me, we will live underneath the stars.
The nightengale will sing, "La la la la la".
It's a sweet song.
Underneath the stars,
We would be lovers from the hill.
