How Much I Don't Know

Plankeye

I want to show you how much
I don't really know you too much
And I can't skip by this misfortunate predicament
I can't get myself out of it, it's all too muchToo late, yes, I guess that it's so
Guess I just wanted to know
But I can't shirk responsibility
Considering, it's all there is to being meAnd I just thought you should know
If you just keep opening doors
I promise that I'll keep testing the locks
Hello, this is the end of the line, oh yeah, I'm doing just fineNo I won't pretend that I am open eyed
Unsurprised or anything but mystified, true and tried
I guess it takes this long to realize
Just how much I don't know
