

The Here And Now

Winter In June

Friday night here come the crowds
And we're swallowed whole but we breathe alone
In the here and now
All these voices melting down
I shut my eyes and I try to hide
In the here and now I can see the truth in your eyes Whisper words I'll never hear
Through the deafening, through the broken scene
Through the endless fear
Faith and flood is rushing out
When you look at me, I can see the truth
In the here and now I can see the truth in your eyes We're lost in the lights and sound
The walls all melt to the ground
And if you don't believe
I will tear the sky down right now
We're lost in the lights and sound
The walls all melt to the ground
And if you can't believe
I will tear the sky down for you We're deafening and the broken screams
I can hear the truth I can see the truth in your eyes
We're lost in the lights and sound
The walls all melt to the ground
And if you don't believe
I will tear the sky down right now
We're lost in the lights and sound
The walls all melt to the ground
And if you can't believe
I will tear the sky down for you
We're lost in the lights and sound
The walls all melt to the ground
And if you don't believe
I will tear the sky down right now

Lyrics provided by
<https://damlyrics.com/>