

You're No Match

Bayside

So sad to see you go
You've had enough of everyone here
You couldn't light a candle to who your friends pretend to be
So go and search for some new sucker
Sing a song and say a prayer for me
You are the monster I was scared you'd be
And now you're blaming it on your surroundings
And your horns came out so gradually
But honey, you're no match for me
You're no match for me
I've watched beneath your knee get trembles
In the beds for which you travels
And the friends you swore that you were so above
Who's going to care about you when you don't care about anyone?
So go and search for some new sucker
Sing a song and say a prayer for me
You are the monster I was scared you'd be
And now you're blaming it on your surroundings
And your horns came out so gradually
But honey, you're no match for me
Well I know I'm quite the catch but why sink it all just to be looked back
I always do this, I always do this
Sorry to say you're not worth one more blister on my heart
I always do this, I always do this
Sorry, you are the monster I was scared you'd be
And now you're blaming it on your surroundings
And your horns came out so gradually
But honey, you're no match for me
You're no match for me
You are the monster I was scared you'd be
And now you're blaming it on your surroundings
And your horns came out so gradually
But honey, you're no match for me
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnllyrics.com/>