Old Man And The Sea

Stratovarius

Son my father he said to me
You only dream when you're young
Some might think that he knew it well
But i have proved him wrongYears have passed and I've grown old
And time has taken its toll
Though my days are soon over
It feels life's just begunJust once more I sail the last sea
Let the wind carry me home
Close my eyes and take a deep breath
In my soul I am forever youngJust once more I sail the last sea
Let the wind carry me home
Close my eyes and take a deep breath
In my soul I am forever young
