Oslo

Blonde Redhead

Nothing, I thought nothing of you Just another young man Running up the mountain There are many like youMistaken, it's not meant to be this It's not meant to be love Crossing path and that is all And that was all Turning me And handle me Come through me And close to meTurning me And handle me Come through me And close to meI wish we had one long night Stain each other We won't see one another Will you always remember? Turning me And handle me Come through me And close to meTurning me And handle me Come through me And close to me

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/