

Georgia Rain

Danny Wooten & Southern Slang

Well I was kickinâ€™ up dirt I was raisinâ€™ up Cain
Standinâ€™ on the front porch passinâ€™ the blame
When your Mama called and said youâ€™d gone away
I looked in the distance stopped for a while
Thought about you and tried to smile
But every time I did it seemed to fade away

Yeah, the clouds gathered round, darkend up the sky
I felt the tears swellinâ€™ up in my eyes
The weather man said â€œI think it looks like rainâ€•.

Georgia Rain, Fallinâ€™ from the sky and pourinâ€™ down the pain, from Georgia Rain, Thunders crashinâ€™ in my head and calling out her name

SOLO-

Yeah, I heard that she needed some time to herself
To figure out life and everything else
I should have seen the signs from yesterday.

Yeah, the clouds gatered round, darkend up the sky
I felt the tears swellinâ€™ up in my eyes
The weather man said â€œI think it looks like rainâ€•.

Georgia Rain, Fallinâ€™ from the sky and pourinâ€™ down the pain, from
Georgia Rain, Thunders crashinâ€™ in my head and calling out her name

I got a postcard from her just last week
Said sheâ€™s doinâ€™ fine in West Palm Beach
She loves the salty air and the ocean breeze
And I read that she missed her life on the farm
Sittinâ€™ on the front porch in my arms, sheâ€™s cominâ€™ home tonight, sheâ€™ll
Be on her way.

Yeah the clouds parted way, up in the sky, the tears dried up that were
In my eyes, Sheâ€™s finally coming home my Georgia Rain.

CHORUS

We were sittinâ€™ on the front porch watchinâ€™ it rain
Back in my arms sheâ€™s happy again

And the weatherman said, were headed for a brighter day
