

Other Side of the Boundary

Springtime Carnivore

I'm a love song, just a love song
Waiting for the dance floor to fill in
To be of use for somethingI'm the answer to your strange equation
That you haven't figured out yet
You may never solve itI'm a raven, just a raven
Waiting for the black night to fade in
I will finally blend inDisappear for a whileEvery time I ever tried
Walking to the edge
My tired heart would compromise
And I would miss my chanceBut I will run now, oh I'll run now
Until I see the other side of the boundaryI'm a bullet, just a bullet
Waiting for the speed of sound
To carry me aroundI'm the cruel joke in your horoscope
But your constellation's clear now
You got nothing to fearEvery time I ever tried
Walking to the edge
My tired heart would compromise
And I would miss my chanceBut I will run now, oh I'll run now
Until I see the other side of the boundaryI'm a stranger, just a stranger
Waiting for a look of kindness
As we cross into the distanceI'm a love song waiting
I'm a love song waiting

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>