Back Home

Graham Nash

Look inside, and you will find you
Take your time, cause time will take you
From your sky, the sun is falling
But Mother Earth will soon be calling you
Back homeDust to dust, ashes to ashes
At the speed of light, time slowly passes
And at the end, I guess nothing matters
You lived your life before the wind
Scattered you back homeAs the curtain is falling
And you sing your last song
May the circle be unbroken
As the band plays on and onTake a load off
Lay your burden downAs the curtain is falling
And you sing your last song
May the circle be unbroken
As the band plays onTake a load off
Take a load off
Lay your burden down
Lay your burden downFrom your eyes, the light is fading
And no one knows what will be waiting
So take a breath and take another
And your soul will fly across the border
Taking you back home

Songwriters
Graham Nash, SHANE FONTAYNEPublished by Lyrics Â© Spirit Music Group

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/