The Cell (Live - Triple J)

The Butterfly Effect

Ive decided now on every thing for everyone
I have judged the terms who is touched and who is harmed
I remember well the nails that slide across my face
I am left alone and still remains the bitter taste of youKnow why I did everything for
You know why Id do anything at allI have crucified the pretty one without a name
These injustice scales test my weight and lay the blame
I remember well the milk that sours within my mouth
You have shut me down, locked me in and never let meOut of here Id do anything to disappear
Id do anything at all for
You know why Id do everything
