

The Cell (Live - Triple J)

The Butterfly Effect

I've decided now on every thing for everyone
I have judged the terms who is touched and who is harmed
I remember well the nails that slide across my face
I am left alone and still remains the bitter taste of you
You know why I did everything for
You know why I do anything at all
I have crucified the pretty one without a name
These injustice scales test my weight and lay the blame
I remember well the milk that sours within my mouth
You have shut me down, locked me in and never let me
Out of here I do anything to disappear
I do anything at all for
You know why I do everything

Songwriters

Glenn Esmond; Ben Hall; Clint Boge; Kurt Goedhart

Published by
SECOND PRESSING PTY LTD
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>