Happens All the Time

Cold

I still hang on every word
In the world of faded memories
Where your still in love with me
I can see it in your eyes
You look as if your martyrdom has lost controlI must hold on, this happens all the time
I still find my faith in you
I can't hold on, this happens all the time
I still find my way to youIf a dream's all that I've got
Then I wish your in a fairy tale
Where your still in love with me
I could see it in your eyes
The look as if your hero fell and lost his soulI must hold on, this happens all the time
I still find my faith in you
I can't hold on, this happens all the time
I still find my way to youTo you, to you, to youI must hold on, this happens all the time
I still find my faith in you
I can't hold on, this happens all the time
I still find my way to youTo you, to you, to you, to you
