

Reinventing the Wheel to Run Myself Over

Fall Out Boy

I could walk this fine line between elation and success
But we all know which way I'm going
So strike the stake between my chest
Well "You have to prove yourself"
You'll have to prove it to me So now you're waiting up for him
You're wasting time every time I can't do it by myself I can't wake up to these reminders of who I am:
A failure at everything
18 going on extinct
I know my place
It's nowhere you should roam
