

Cherry Red

The Narrative

You look so dumb with your cherry red lipstick on and I can feel you push but are you sure that this is what you want and is that your can't-you-see-I'm-over-you smile well baby, I will bury you if this is gonna be a while and all year long I'm waiting for you to move on you drove my patience through the floor with your so dramatic selfish tactics but you're right here knocking down my door with your pretty fingers digging deeper still you're too obsessed with everything I do and I've been losing sleep but i can guarantee it's not over you and it feels so good to finally be alone yeah I was really tired of you torturing my telephone and all year long I'm waiting for you to move on you drove my patience through the floor with your so dramatic selfish tactics
but you're right here knocking down my door with your pretty fingers digging deeper still You drove my patience through the floor And you keep me coming back for more with your so dramatic selfish tactics but you're right here knocking down my door with your pretty fingers digging deeper still Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>