

Under The Gun

Waking Ashland

When it rains it pours down
And I am left with no cover
I'm being watched like a T.V.
It makes sleeping much harder
You can't fix what's never been broken
You can't even hide it
You can't change what's never been spoken
We're so alike, except
Seems like I'm a good laugh
Seems like I'm failure
But you're to blame
Under the gun
I watched your eyes change blue to green
Under the gun
The tension fills the room
We push ourselves away
We go days without talking
The silence brings us no answers
We gave our final exchanges
Here's one loss for another
You can't fix what's always been broken
You can't even hide it
You can't change what's never been spoken
We're so alike, except
Seems like I'm a good laugh
Seems like I'm failure
But you're to blame
Under the gun
I watched your eyes change blue to green
Under the gun
And the tension of being in a box
Slowly dying
I'm closer to making a big mistake
Under the gun
You put me under the gun
Under the gun
I watched your eyes change blue to green
Under the gun
The tension fills the room
You put me under the gun
I watched your eyes change blue to green
Under the gun
The tension of being in a box
Slowly dying

Songwriters

Gramm, Lou / Jones, Mick
Published by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>