Last Time

Moderat

When I was dead asleep
behind
towering wallsThey built a world outside and I missed the wake-up callMy stony breath crawled to glory heavens be there was a sea of sound
But old silence that stole my sleepWhen I was dead asleep
behind
and I missed the wake-up callWhen I get cripple legs Through long winding streets
Fill me with suffering
And the people Would see right through me
