

The Annexation of Puerto Rico

A Static Lullaby

Signing off in revelations
The end is far past the hour
Falling fast through a concrete passage
Down, down, down These questions will
My question will
These questions will
My question, "Will I find her?" That kiss so sweet, sweet, sweet
That body lies so gently down As heaven weeps without her
Now heaven weeps without her
As heaven weeps without her now Do what this beggar pleads and bury me, bury me
Do what this beggar pleads
Do what this beggar pleads and bury me, bury me
Sure, she's the one and I'll search forever Latch onto the souls of these cliffs
Ask the damned to lend a hand
That body lies so gently down As heaven weeps without her
Now heaven weeps without her
As heaven weeps without her now Do what this beggar pleads and bury me, bury me
Do what this beggar pleads
Do what this beggar pleads and bury me, bury me
She's the one, so I'll search forever As heaven weeps without her now
As heaven without her now
As heaven weeps without her
As heaven weeps without her now
Salvation returns as I'm coming undone Unlock your heart, love
And please remind yourself
That breathing's not the same
Since I take in air for you
And I'm pulling fucking through Do what this beggar pleads and bury me, bury me
Do what this beggar pleads
Do what this beggar pleads and bury me, bury me
So she's the one and I'll search forever
