Forced To Sleep

Direct Hit!

Have a ball of amphetamines and pour them in your mouth
Take a sip of diphenhydramine when your heart starts going south
Grab your chest, and rest, and hope for the best when your body starts to react
Take some more when the pain gets sore and hope you get forced to rest (oh!)
Take a sip, bite your lip, and hope that feeling will holdUse this time to reflect, rewind, and pray that you're not getting cold
Fall asleep when your eyes grow weak and hope that the feeling will stay
You're in control, your body will roll whatever you throw its way
You can tell that everything is going wellAnd I pray to hell
That you don't start that feeling
While you're in control
You're keeping yourself from growing old
You're body is doing what it's been told
You're not gonna let anything take its hold(Every day is a nightmare)
Square one when the morning comes you don't have any feeling at all
Your brain is foggy and your thoughts will come with the speed of an outdated gun
So grab your chest, rest, and hope for the best when your body starts to react
Take your fill and get your thrills and tell them today isn't your last
You can tell that everything is going wellAnd I pray to hell
That you don't start that feeling
While you're in control
You're keeping yourself from growing old
You're body is doing what it's been told
You're not gonna let anything take its holdSo grab your chest, rest, and hope for the best when your body starts to react
Take some more when the pain gets sore and hope you get forced to rest
Fall asleep when your eyes grow weak and hope that the feeling will stay
You're in control, your body will roll whatever you throw its way
You can tell that everything is going wellAnd I pray to hell
That you don't start that feeling
While you're in control
You're keeping yourself from growing old
You're body is doing what it's been told
You're not gonna let anything take its hold (Nail slime, spidy legs, poison ivy, rattlesnake lip, yes, all done, most perfect!
My pump potion is ready!)
