Cracking The Whip

I'm Designer

Liberation day, face down in the reservoir
Where's your street credibility now?
(Theo has dropped his crown)Mirror image shadowed
Passion fragments floating
A dignified loss is better suits you
Just find my friendForgotten soldiers daydream
Your courage is not what it seemsPlease forgive me, please believe me
'Cause our faith is strong
I don't deserve you, I'll rest forever
In this honesty, eyes closedBreaking the war-chest, the soldier's complex
We just need more time
Just get on your knees and know
That I'll be the one cracking the whip from here onIn bed with the moon flower
Contradict the nestling
I bet you think that you're some kind of power elite
(Stay strong, stay true)Dreaming of nostalgia
Emerald still gleaming
Every snowflake
Please not guilty in an avalanchePlease forgive me, please believe me
'Cause our faith is strong
I don't deserve you
I'll rest forever in this honesty eyes closedBreaking the war-chest, the soldiers complex
We just need more time
Just get on your knees and knowThat I'll be the one cracking the whip from here on
If this is goodbye, why will neither of us cry
If the battle is won, why must we always come undone?Please forgive me, please believe me
'Cause our faith is strong
No, I don't deserve you
I'll rest forever in this honesty eyes closedBreaking the war-chest, the soldiers complex
We just need more time
Just get on your knees and know
That I'll be the one cracking the whip from here on

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/