

This Time Around

David Nail

I know what you think, here we go again
The same waste of potential that I've always been
I've been given the chances and I've burned some bridges up
Had a million excuses why I self-destruct But this time around I'm a little more ready now
I'm a little bit older, a little more figured out
This time around I see what I want, I've had a taste
I'm aware of the sacrifice it's gonna take
I ain't afraid of failure 'cause I ain't supposed to win
It took a while to find it but I'm back again And this time around I'm a little more ready now
I'm a little bit older, a little more figured out
This time around Yeah, this time around I'm a little more ready now
I'm a little bit older, a little more figured out Yeah, this time around I'm a little more ready now
I'm a little bit older, a little more figured out
This time around
Yeah, this time around This time around, this time around
This time around, this time around
