

NJ Falls Into The Atlantic

Senses Fail

And it's four a.m. and we will stalk again
The princess and your better queen
On the fourth day of July
Deep in summer's eye
Naked like the truth should always be So speak your mind
(Don't follow with your foot)
All this pain here
(All comes from your trial)
I won't listen
(Your memory is bleeding)
My lies are faced with blue
Coming straight from off the wires
Southern face and drunken father
Crying as she's carving in her flesh And it's four a.m. and we will stalk again
The princess and your better queen
On the fourth day of July
Deep in summer's eye
Naked like the truth should always be This falls on (All palm trees and trash heaps)
This burning bed
(Where my eyes will not sleep)
Watchin' romance from a far
See bleedin' from the glass on my feet
Learning that I love the smell of flesh And it's four a.m. and we will stalk again
The princess and your better queen
On the fourth day of July
Deep in summer's eye
Naked like the truth should always be An angel on his two knees
Arms stretched toward a red sea
Of violence and assaultry done
The scenic view of carnage
Caused by the sore in his hands
The beauty resonates in birth
It's plain to see the wind beneath the trees
Flowin' free, the summer breeze is sweet
But play in this place, I'm choked by my own air
I love the taste of your blackened lips And it's four a.m. and we will stalk again
The princess and your better queen
On the fourth day of July

Deep in summer's eye
Naked like the truth should always be
