

Impossible

Kelly Clarkson

Just woke up and thought I'd try, try to step across the line
You know that I've been thinking 'bout it for a while, yeah
Starting to think it's time I leave does me good to know I finally feel Feel this pain, it's real, it's possible You say
Can't change the winds to say, won't matter anyway
Can't reach that far 'cause it's impossible
Can't rise above this place, won't change your mind so I pray
Breaking down the walls to the impossible Walking by myself I know this lonely road's becoming my new home
But I don't stop I just keep moving on, and on Ain't no need to dry my eyes, I haven't cried in quite some time
Everyday I fight it, you know it's possible You say
Can't change the winds to say, won't matter anyway
Can't reach that far 'cause it's impossible
Can't rise above this place, won't change your mind so I pray
Breaking down the walls to the impossible Someone tell me why it's so hard taking chances?
You draw the line and think that I won't ask for more, yeah
I will stumble and I'll make my own mistakes, yeah
But I won't worry about it anymore, it's impossible Can't change the winds to say, won't matter anyway
Can't reach that far 'cause it's impossible
Can't rise above this place, won't change your mind so I pray
Breaking down the walls to the impossible It's impossible to you, not impossible to me
Not impossible for me
Can't rise above this place, won't change your mind so I pray
Breaking down the walls to the impossible Just woke up and thought I'd try, try to step across the line

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>