Ships That Don't Come In

Joe Diffie

I could tell he'd had a tough life
By the way he sat and stared
And me, I'd come to push and shove
So I pulled up a chairWe talked of roads untraveled

We talked of love untrue

Of strings that come unraveled

We were kings and kindred foolsAnd just when I'd hit bottom

That old man raised his glass

And said at least we had our chances

There's those who never haveSo here's to all the soldiers

Who have ever died in vain

The insane locked up in themselves

The homeless down on MainTo those who stand on empty shores

And spit against the wind

And those who wait forever

For ships that don't come inHe said it's only life's illusions

That bring us to this bar

To pick up these old crutches

And compare each other's scars'Cause the things we're calling heartache

Hell, they're hardly worth our time

We bitch about a dollar

When there's those without a dimeAnd as he ordered one last round

He said I guess we can't complain

God made life a gamble

And we're still in the gameSo here's to all the soldiers

Who have ever died in vain

The insane locked up in themselves

The homeless down on MainTo those who stand on empty shores

And spit against the wind

And those who wait forever

For ships that don't come inAnd those who wait forever

For ships that don't come in
