

Mental

Dubchild

On this lonely stretch of solitude
I'm thinking 'bout the things that I never do
    All the promises that I made to you
Well, they're just words, they're only words
    It took so long for me to recognize
    All this confidence that I couldn't find
I used to dim my light, so you could shine
    And that's what hurts, it really hurts
    I wanna do everything right
    But everything's going wrong
    I wanna feel heaven on earth
    But nothing ever lasts that long
    Baby, I'm goin' mental
    So much potential
I can't stand to watch it withering away
    It's out of control now
    It's getting old now
    And I can't afford to waste another day
Well, dust keeps piling up on the window sill
Man, if you don't know by now, I guess you never will
    But there's no benefit in standing still
    Not for you, no, no, and not for me
    But I wanna make everything work
        Something's just gotta give
        I gotta start putting me first
        It's killing me the way it is
        Baby, I'm goin' mental
        So much potential
I can't stand to watch it withering away
    It's out of control now
    It's getting old now
    And I can't afford to waste another day
    I wanna do everything right
    But everything's going wrong
    I wanna feel heaven on earth
    And nothing ever lasts that long
    Baby, I'm goin' mental
    So much potential
I can't stand to watch it withering away

It's out of control now
It's getting old now
And I can't afford to waste another day
