Acid Rain

Robert DeLong

Wanted it to
Feel the same way
As the first time
As the first timeBut the feeling
Slipped away
To red green blue
And then I saw youIn the airport
It's the same thing
As the first time
As the first timeI watched the tiles
Slip away
Into the restroom
Then I saw youWanted you to
Glimpse the same things
That my eyes saw
That my mind sawBut the vision
Slipped away
Into nothingRan down my brain stem
And out my fingers
I felt the cold air
And touched your black hair
The rush of colors and
Acid rain
The colors screened you
And then I saw throughThe colors screened you
And then I saw throughThe colors screened you
And then I saw throughFollow the signs
Through the desert
Through the desert
To the other sideOne cycle later
I met my savior
In the arches
In the forestIs it trees or twilight?
Can't ascertain
I was in the taproom
And then I saw youThen I was running
Pushing air in my lungs
Feeling the light
Bounce off the moon from the sun

And slip into nothing
Into nothingRan down my brain stem
And out my fingers
I felt the cold air
The rush of colors and
Acid rain
And then I saw throughRan down my brain stem
I felt the cold air
Acid rain
And then I saw throughFeel it slip away
Slip away, slip away
Slip away, slip away...Ran down my brain stem
I felt the cold air
Acid rain
And then I saw throughRan down my brain stem
I felt the cold air
Acid rain
Slip away, slip away...
