

Stars In the Night

Barry Manilow

Look
Look at the stars
How brilliant they are
How can they be shining now
When hope is so far? Look
Look how they shine
These cruelest of stars
What fire inspires them
What faith is it fires them? Darkness grows
The world turns cold
And still, there glows the light
Heaven knows
What hope they hold tonight Look
Look how they shine
These stars in the night
The darker the night becomes
The brighter their light becomes Chill winds wail
The tempest blues
And clouds assail the sky
Through the veil
The stars refuse to die In this world of darkest night
Where hope is hurled away
There they are
And still, there's light
Oh, so far, but will they There they lift our hearts
As we lift our eyes
Are we fools to see
The harmony that fills the sky Look
There's the light
Stars in the night
The stars In the night
