

Exploiting Trust

Synchrony

Your eyes once again try to hide the lies although I see through Waking up every day in misery in denial I kept the faith I was so blind to believe in you and me so sick of holding on Schemes carried out to fool my senses but I'm aware of the current state did you think that I wouldn't notice now we are too far gone
I will take no more
And this time I'm letting myself walk away
you will hear me say goodbye
I've been blind to see how you've led me astray
I will not have you exploit my trust again
So why do you feel the need to deny when I know what's true I have let you consume my empathy now take a look how we ended up everything could have gone so differently we're out of options now
I will take no more
And this time I'm letting myself walk away
you will hear me say goodbye
I've been blind to see how you've led me astray
After what you have done do you still beg me to forgive you
after what you have done
can't you acknowledge we're beyond repair
And this time I'm letting myself walk away
you will hear me say goodbye
I've been blind to see how you've led me astray
My trust again
