To You

Dan Adler

I'm going to say what I wanted to say
Since I first saw you on that rainy day
When you caught me looking and I made you laugh
Honey, I know you, I've always hadAnd if this world is just a random bed
Then they'd be no good reason why we would have met
But if there's something bigger, if there's something planned
Honey, I want you to understandThat every beat of my heart is true
I've spend my life trying to get back on to you, oh
To you, ohI'm gonna do what I wanted to do
I'm gonna trust my heart and give it back to you
Every time I speak I want to say your name
Honey, I know you feel the sameWhen we're talking and you look at me
I feel the distant memory coming back to me
Like my own reflection on the quiet lake
Honey, I see you, there's no mistakeAnd every word that I say is true
I've spend my life trying to get back on to you, oh
To youI'm going to be who I wanted to be
I will become the man who you deserve from me
No more hiding out under mountains of fear
Honey we're breaking out of hereThe open moment and the sky above
Nothing can hold us back from the things we've learned
You need not save your strength, untie your safety rope
You will not need, it all you need is hopeAnd every dream that we have is true
I've spend my life trying to get back on to you, oh
To you oh, to you oh, to you oh

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/