Ocean King

Soft Lit

lonely as i
last night in your room collect the things that you'll forget soon everybody else said you're no good but the thing that everyone can't see body of water inside my heart whispers that i should let you be arrange on a shelf

so protective of you forget the seed, it forgets what it grew like a phantom limb i cannot control i cannot repair what i don't believe maybe if i could just let you go maybe i could forget everything you are my ocean king have you ever been honestly in love?

you are my ocean king have you ever been honest with anyone?

change both my names lose the one that i knew like how yours is a skin i could not shed too soon you're a ghost in everything i see you're a bitter pill that i still taste do you carry with you a part of me or do i love the part that i displaced?

you are my ocean king have you ever been honestly in love?
you are my ocean king have you ever been honest with anyone?

Lyrics Submitted by Martina Kotseva

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/