

Greatest Movie Ending

The Fags

I stuck my heart on the end of my sleeve, and I kept shoving my foot right down my throat. Don't you tell me "we're still friends" or try and judge me on my life. I ask you if you care about him. You won't look in my eyes.

I can't agonize about that now. There's nothing left to do. I wish I had my best girl back. Too bad it can't be you. You dress up now, I see you out from time to time. You always look so beautiful. I know it's not for me. I always think around 11, "that's her on the phone." I never thought that once I changed, you'd want to be alone. I just hope you can be happier without me in your way. Please remember one thing. In my heart you never left.

It's the greatest movie ending. I got my money's worth, because you stay.
